HISTORIC CITY WITH FLAIR

The city of 2000 inhabitants is the smallest administrative district in Austria and exercises its autonomy by its own city charter. Rust was first mentioned in the year 1317th

The Rust were burning in their barrels, which allowed them to virtually duty-free wine export to the Crown Lands market rights and in 1524 the legal right as a trademark "R" to the 1470th

In 1681 the people of Rust purchased from the Herrschaftsuntertänigkeit free and paid for 60,000 gold florins and 500 buckets best wine, 30,000 liters, an outbreak of Furmint.

The entire old town, which is one of the most picturesque of its kind, is a listed building. The many houses from the 16th to 19th century have maintained Baroque or Renaissance facades with beautiful windows and Portalrahmungen, Bay, crest and Stukkdekorationen. Characteristic arched portals leading into the idyllic courtyards with covered staircases and arcades, some with remains of the city wall from the 16th century.

The historic center is since 1954 to protect the "Hague Convention" and in 1975 - awarded "model city of monuments," because a "vital Old Town" is - in addition to Salzburg and Krems. This means that the houses still have their original function as a residential and commercial properties.

FISHING CHURCH

The fishermen's church is the art and cultural history of valuable construction. The church appears from the outside inconspicuous, tucked between houses with city walls and loopholes (1512). It stands on the former cemetery and provides a nearly complete picture of Burgenland art history.

From 12 -. 16th century built and changed to the church. The name "Fishermen's Church" emerged only in the 20th century, but can be traced back to a legend.. In the 13th century Queen Mary is said to have been advised of Hungary on the run from the Mongols on Lake Neusiedl in distress and rescued by Rust fishermen his. In thanks, they have the "Nikolausbenefizium" donated to the St. Mary's Chapel. It was added to the existing Romanesque church. In 14/15. C. The church was by a Gothic extension with a ribbed vault, surrounded by a wall and incorporated into the fortification.

It was not until the early 16th century. Mary's chapel and the choir Pankras were united by the construction of the late Gothic transept. The baroque double onion dome, the church received in 1729, fell back to 1879 and was replaced by a simple gate construction.

The floor plan consists of three parts:

The choir Pankratius

The economic rise of Rust is seen especially in the Pankratius choir. In Figure 12, the circular fields Acts are shown, but with 4 fields are empty. The artistic value-most altar is the Florianialtar 16th century rarities are also the remains of the oldest Gothic stained glass, gothic paving stones with coats of arms and especially the sound pots -. openings in the vaults of the buttresses - an acoustic system einfachster style with amazing effect. The frescoes (discovered in 1938, 1949 - exposed 54) the most important and most abundant constituent of the castle country. Today's high altar with the image of the Crucified and Risen comes clearly from the Protestant period of the parish.

the Nikolausbenefizium

The most valuable frescoes are in the Lady Chapel - ribs with red ornamentation in the pendentives yellow stars on a blue background. Here are also a Steinpietà and statue of Mary (15th c.).

The transept

This was built 1526th In the vaults are rich decoration with vines, fish, fruits, Little Men in the vine, to find one of ev. Church painter. The church was a century belonged to the Protestants, at this time, the construction was carried out of the sacristy (1563) and the music choir.

TOWN OF STORKS

The white stork has for Rust a special significance and is considered a national bird of the city. The chimneys of the old town is the largest stork colony in the country. Storks are in Rust since the previous turn of the century (1900). The stork population is exposed to naturally large fluctuations. In order to create the ideal living conditions Storch, a "program for the protection of the white stork" was geschaffen, the Rust stork club committed to its implementation. One of the association of many tasks is the preservation and the creation of new feeding grounds for the stork. The stork club ensures the maintenance, cleaning and disinfection of the stork nests.

The storks come March 20 and fly mid-August to its wintering grounds in Africa. In recent years, the stork population in Rust has stabilized. Now breed on average about 15 stork couples who raise about 35 young storks.

CITY OF FINE WINE

The fascination of the little town is also its turbulent history in which the wine and the high quality of the grape juice were paramount. Around 380 hectares of vineyards are located on one of the warmest points of Central Europe, on the southern loess grounds of the Rust hills. From May to September the 14 o'clock temperature is an average of 23 °.

The microclimate created by the Lake Neusiedl as a climate regulator favors the grapes the coveted botrytis (noble rot), which is essential for the sweet wine. Similar conditions worldwide are only found in Tokaj (H) and in the Sauternes (F).

Of the approximately 380 hectare vineyard area is about 40% with red wines (Gamay, Zweigelt, St. Laurent, Cabernet, etc. planted Sauvignon) and 60% white wine varieties (Riesling, Pinot, Chardonnay, Traminer, Sauvignon blanc, Muscat, Furmint). Worldwide no other region offers many grape varieties such equally excellent soil and climatic conditions. The "R", which was once fired for tax reasons in the barrels, is now at the cork brand for the excellent quality of the Rust wines.

New in the wine law in 2016 - the action level OUTBREAK.

After many years of dedication, it is the Ruster Weinbauverein succeeded that this wine must be produced exclusively in Rust, Ruster winemakers.

Wine Academy Austria

The Weinakademie offers - whether novice wine or wine professional - attractive wine experiences in the atmospheric ambience. The seminar offers range from a Weinschnuppertag about Wine & Food Seminars to Weinakademiker- and Master of Wine Course (www.weinakademie.at).

UNESCO WORLD HERITAGE

Since the end of 2001, the region is Lake Neusiedl and the old town of Rust part of the UNESCO World Heritage Fertö-Lake Neusiedl. Thus the region's 721 cultural monuments one of the world which are to humanity of "exceptional value".

This unique European cultural landscape with the Pannonian Plain, the steppe with its huge reed beds, the original villages, the characteristic vineyards and pastures, rare natural values, cultural landscape treasures, archaeological monuments is witnessing an impressive centuries-old settlement history.

THE LAKE NEUSIEDL

The largest steppe lake in Europe is around 320 square kilometers and is surrounded by a 1 to 6 km wide belt of reeds. The 1.5-meter-deep lake is fed primarily by rainfall, which has led to sometimes large fluctuations in the water level has always been. The surrounding wetlands serve as breeding grounds for countless species of birds.
